Godwin is a passionate creative thinker, Teacher and a Fitness Coach with over years of experience in crafting compelling stories and impartation for diverse audiences. With a background in Bachelor of Science in Human Resource Management , Godwin combines his love for words with a keen understanding of audience engagement and well being trends.

I love teaching Twi because it allows me to share a rich cultural heritage with others. Twi is more than just a language; it's a gateway to understanding the traditions, values, and history of the Akan people in Ghana. Teaching Twi gives me the opportunity to help others communicate more effectively within diverse communities, and preserve a beautiful language that is an integral part of Ghana's identity. Seeing my students progress and gain confidence in speaking Twi is incredibly rewarding and inspires me to continue sharing this important part of our culture.

While teaching, I've achieved several milestones that have made a significant impacts such as Student Success,Cultural Connection,Curriculum Development,Community Building and Personal Growth.

Godwin approaches every project with creativity, precision, and a deep commitment to quality.

In his free time, Godwin enjoys reading, being in the gym, beach side, traveling,research making and exploring new cultures, which often serve as inspiration for him to do more in his area of strength. He believes in the power of storytelling to connect people and is dedicated to using his skills to make a positive impact on humanity.

[Baah Rosemond ] ( Accra, Ghana )

Teacher

Baah Rosemond is a dedicated and passionate educator with over years of experience in teaching. My journey in education began with a Bachelor of Education[ English, Social Studies and Twi] from Accra College Of Education ( Accra , Ghana ), where I discovered my love for teaching and shaping young minds.

In my free time, I enjoy reading, music, traveling, and volunteering in my community, which further enrich my teaching by bringing diverse perspectives and experiences into the classroom.

I am deeply committed to continuous learning and professional development, always seeking new strategies and approaches to better serve my students. I look forward to continuing my journey as an educator and making a positive impact on the lives of the students I teach.

I love teaching Twi because it's a way to preserve and share a rich cultural heritage. The language is deeply connected to the identity, traditions, and history of the Akan people in Ghana. By teaching Twi, I can help others connect with that culture, whether they are learning it for personal, academic, or professional reasons. It's rewarding to see students embrace and appreciate the language, and it brings me joy to know I'm playing a part in keeping the language alive and relevant.

While teaching Twi, I've achieved several meaningful milestones. I've helped students of diverse backgrounds develop a deep appreciation for the language and culture, enabling them to communicate effectively in Twi. Many of my students have gone on to use their language skills in professional and personal contexts, which has strengthened their ties to the Akan culture in Ghana.

These achievements have not only enriched the lives of my students but have also reinforced my commitment to preserving and promoting the Twi language.
